Importance: Normal

We had sand in

- 1) 8949-8953 - gas and resistivity increase
 - 2) 12120.5-12123 - tiny but was gas increase
 - 3) 12233-12236 - resistivity increase but don't see gas, no cuttings sample taken there
 - 4) and the one we took kick at 13248-13252.5
- What do you think? Can eliminate 2)

Galina can you help us with this? We need to list the massive hydrocarbon bearing sands that we have encountered in the well. I believe we have two? Todd, if you send me the picks I will get with Galina on Monday to complete the form.

Will you please send me the final wellbore for the original hole? I will need to file the End of Operations Report. I will also need zones/markers so would you forward on the attached form to the right contact for me?

Thanks!
Heather
