Bill,

I reviewed the input data as well as the notes / data that you sent out to the team. The assumptions are reasonable and makes sense to me. I ran the files, and, after figuring out the scale differences (courtesy SPT and prior runs with XOM), came out with same results.

Thanks for the good work, and for rescuing BP from Lei. I think my girlfriend OLGA looks better all the time. She might pay for herself pretty soon, if not already.

Just came back from presentation to CONOCO. Went very well. I think I already told you I now have to talk twice as fast because we have to show two simulators now.

Fred,

If you get a chance, can you look over the two cases attached and make sure I'm seeing this clearly – especially the second case of the seafloor exit. Thanks,

Bill
