Finally, the maximum flow is a fictitious state, but it may provide a reasonable estimate of the initial flowing conditions once the effect of the riser and kink restrictions are added.

To enable integration of the flow from the first day to the last, one is required to accept a model for the reservoir. Various models of the reservoir could result in a different transient between the initial state and the final state.